

Meet your photoleader

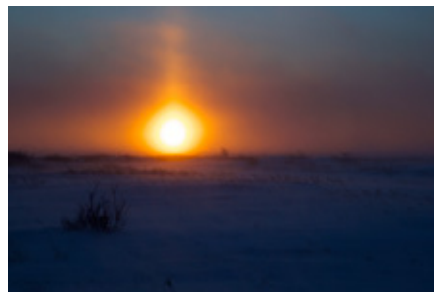

ANDY SKILLEN

Andy Skillen is a multi-award-winning wildlife photographer who has documented the natural world for over 20 years. Published on a global basis, he continues to work for the world's leading photographic organizations. In addition to this, Andy's limited edition, fine art collections are sold worldwide directly and through agents, and have been exhibited in galleries such as the Mall in London, UK. He also undertakes private commissions for collectors worldwide. In addition to the artistic side, Andy is a photographic judge for National Geographic in the UK, runs workshops for the latter and independently at home and overseas, and is a regular on the after-dinner speaking circuit.

Andy has always enjoyed leading groups of keen photographers, and has many years' experience of shooting right across the Arctic, and in particular at the Churchill Wild lodges.

View Andy's gallery online: faunavista.com

Facebook: andyskillenphotography