GEORGE TURNER

The beginning of George's obsession with the natural world is anchored in his rural upbringing, once filled with hedgehogs, badgers, and otters. This burning fire has since taken him to some of the Earth's most stunning wildernesses, camera in tow, photographing incredible wildlife. George's images have been published in a broad spectrum of publications, and he has received a wide number of awards and industry recognition.

George always relishes the chance to lead fellow photographers in the field, assisting them in creating 'the' shot. His patient, relaxed approach to photography ensures participants feel at ease, fully soaking up the amazing moments surrounding them.

George lives and breathes wildlife photography. His meticulous approach to capturing moments in time involves extensive research on destinations and species, and planning for his most desired shots.

He's energetic, innovative, and imaginative and will be on-site to provide photographic instruction both in the field, and back at the lodge during small group post-processing sessions and classroom style training.

Join George on any of these 2019 Churchill Wild safaris:
